Become a Facebook Fan for Ultra-high Speed Internet Project

Google, the search engine giant, has said it will underwrite the ultra-high speed (100 times faster than we have now) Internet wiring of a handful of cities of varying sizes across the country, bringing millions of dollars of free investment in a city's information technology infrastructure. The company is now reviewing nominations and applications from communities who responded to their Request for Information (RFI) by the March 26th deadline, including Redding!

Thank you to every single member of the community who has supported this application process by nominating Redding through Google's online community RFI process.

How Can You Continue to Help?

Redding and Shasta County residents can still become Facebook fans by clicking here:

There is a link to the Google-Redding winning team video on the Facebook page.

By becoming a fan and viewing the video, our community will continue to demonstrate to Google that we want them to come to Redding, we need them to come to Redding, and we will welcome and support them when they do! And Google is sure to be following-up with cities that they feel would make good partners. Become a fan today!

Thank you for your continued support!
